

Three vertical lines are drawn across the page, creating three columns for writing. The lines are evenly spaced and extend from the top to the bottom of the page.